

Are You Prepared for the Chaos and Darkness That Are Coming?

A little over a week ago, terrorists attacked Israel, killing thousands of men, women and children. For many of us, those actions not only broke our hearts, but also rocked our foundations a little.

The barbaric actions were overwhelming even to the strongest people of faith. Standing alone, the atrocities we saw and read about in Israel were staggering. But, the events in Israel are only one part of the violence and chaos we see around the globe. Because these attacks affect us so emotionally, it can be easy for us to become focused on the chaos and lose our focus altogether.
