

Biden Admin Wants to Make Nuclear Weapons 'Queer' Friendly

What is a queer nuclear weapon?

The Biden administration is seeking to de-stigmatize nuclear weapons.

According to Fox News, the Department of Energy hired Sneha Nair as an assistant for the National Nuclear Security Administration. It is Nair's goal to end "white supremacy" within this area of government and to begin "queering nuclear weapons."

So, what does that mean exactly?

Nair wants to change the perception that people have about nuclear weapons and their use.

"...queer theory informs the struggle for nuclear justice and disarmament," she said, according to Fox. "Queer theory helps to shift the perception of nuclear weapons as instruments for security by telling the hidden stories of displacement, illness and trauma caused by their production and testing."

Apparently, nuclear weapons have to relate to the LGBTQ+ cause in some fashion for us to know that they can cause destruction.

Nair is tied so vehemently to this addition of the DEI outlook on nuclear weapons that she believes we would have struggles from "insider threats" at the nuclear facilities without this agenda tied to it.

“DEI principles and advancement must be considered crucial assets for strengthening nuclear security implementation,” Nair said.

She further wrote in an article that “DEI can serve as a tool to strengthen nuclear security.” Why is this? Because Nair believes that the larger society views marginalized groups as “threats.”

“An example of this is the threat posed by some White supremacist groups to nuclear facilities may go undetected if a White-majority workforce does not perceive these ideological leanings...” Nair continues.

Kyle Mann of The Babylon Bee took to X to show the extreme absurdity of this view that nuclear weapons in some way have something to do with gender.

“Another one of our @TheBabylonBee prophecies fulfilled,” Mann wrote posting a photo of an article the satirical outlet did back in 2021 on U.S. gender neutral bombs compared to the Fox headline on Nair’s extreme DEI take.

What once used to actually be jokes are today’s headlines. Instead of focusing on “queering nuclear weapons,” we need to keep our eyes focused on Christ at all times, making Him the priority and focus of our lives.
