

Billy Graham Remains Hospitalized

Billy Graham remains hospitalized at Mission Hospital in Asheville, NC. Nurses caring for him reported on Sunday afternoon that he continues to improve in his recovery from pneumonia. He is also progressing in his program of physical therapy as he is now walking more in the private corridor outside his room.

Over the weekend, the 93-year-old evangelist was visited by his son, Franklin Graham, and daughters, Gigi Graham and Anne Graham Lotz and her two daughters (all of whom offered him prayer and encouragement.) Sunday morning he watched his pastor, Dr. Don Wilton, preach on television as he does at home each Sunday.

Doctors are encouraged by Graham's significant clinical progress, but have not yet set a date for discharge.
