

Board of Peace Makes Strategic New Move as Global Uncertainty Rises

President Donald Trump's Board of Peace continues to grow its public sphere as they set their eyes on what is to come next.

Launching their new website, the Board of Peace noted their founding principles that are about "common sense solutions."

Declaring that durable peace requires pragmatic judgment, common-sense solutions, and the courage to depart from approaches and institutions that have too often failed;

Recognizing that lasting peace takes root when people are empowered to take ownership and responsibility over their future;

Affirming that only sustained, results-oriented partnership, grounded in shared burdens and commitments, can secure peace in places where it has for too long proven elusive;

They also note that other forms of peace negotiations have led to "perpetual dependency."

Lamenting that too many approaches to peace-building foster perpetual dependency, and institutionalize crisis rather than leading people beyond it;

Emphasizing the need for a more nimble and effective international peace-building body; and

Resolving to assemble a coalition of willing States committed to practical cooperation and effective action,

Judgment guided and justice honored, the Parties hereby adopt the Charter for the Board of Peace.

Throughout Scripture, peace in the end times is not presented as simple or purely benevolent. The Bible describes a period when global leaders will pursue unity and stability, yet beneath the surface, prophetic tensions will be building. The issue in biblical prophecy is not peace, but false peace. A peace that promises security without righteousness. A peace that unites nations while hearts remain unchanged.

As the Board of Peace steps into a growing public role, Christians may rightly ask: Are we witnessing another ordinary political development—or another piece in a much larger prophetic puzzle?

In an age where the world increasingly longs for stability, Scripture reminds us that ultimate and lasting peace will not come through charters or coalitions—but through the return of Christ Himself.
