

Bruce 'Caitlyn' Jenner Slams Hillary Clinton, Praises Republicans

One thing Bruce "Caitlyn" Jenner has not changed? Political views.

In a new clip for I Am Cait, Jenner talks politics with friends, telling them, "I'm open. We need both sides, and if we're unfortunate enough to get Hilary as our next president, we need her on our side. Although she won't be. She couldn't care less about women. She cares about herself."

In recent weeks, the transgender woman vocalized support for Ted Cruz.

"I like Ted Cruz," Jenner said. "I think he's very conservative and a great constitutionalist and a very articulate man. I haven't endorsed him or anything like that."

Jenner's Republican roots go further too: He's in support of traditional marriage. And when asked which Republican most supports transgender people, Jenner has a surprising answer. Watch the video to see what it is.
