

CfaN Evangelist Shows Readers How to Find Their Calling in New Book

Listening to God and understanding His greater purpose for your life isn't easy, but world-renowned Christ for all Nations (CfaN) evangelist Daniel Kolenda guides readers through the process of discovering their higher calling in his new book, Live Before You Die: Wake up to God's will for your life, releasing Jan. 8 from Passio, a division of Charisma Media's Charisma House.

In the book, Kolenda draws from Scripture and his own experience as an evangelist to help readers discover God's will for their lives. Whether life's journey has taken an individual from the mission field or to media school, whether they are a construction worker or stay-at-home mom, Kolenda shares a practical guidance to show how anyone can experience the wonders of God's calling for their life and live His purposeful adventure.

"People claim to be unfulfilled for a variety of circumstances—lack of finances, bad job, unhappy marriage—but God has a better plan, a fulfilling plan," said Kolenda. "I wrote this book to offer guidance to those searching for purpose. It is my desire that Live Before You Die can act as a tool in leading people to the Lord's work."

With advice that is both practical and inspiring, Kolenda reveals tips for how to hear God's voice, how to start moving in the right direction, what to do when God says to wait, five secrets to discovering God's will and much more.

Kolenda is a modern missionary evangelist who has had the privilege of personally leading over 15 million souls in the prayer of salvation, through CfaN's massive open air meetings where hundreds of thousands attend regularly. As the successor to world-renowned leader Reinhard Bonnke, Kolenda is the president and CEO of CfaN, and is the author of two other books, Your Kingdom Come and Surviving Your Wilderness.
