

Chris Reed's Prophetic Warnings Spark Urgent Call to Prayer

Days prior to President Donald Trump's inauguration, prophetic minister Chris Reed released urgent warnings, calling Christians to unite in prayer for the protection of President Trump, American leadership and the nation as a whole. Reed, who expresses deep spiritual concern, believes that now is the time for believers to take action through intercession and repentance.

Reed issues a series of prophetic insights and warnings, highlighting key areas of concern for the days ahead:

- A Potential Third Assassination Attempt: Reed warns of a potential third attempt to assassinate President Trump, urging fervent prayers for his safety and divine protection.
- Domestic Terrorism Threats: In response to the new presidency, Reed foresees the possibility of domestic terrorism attempts aimed at destabilizing the country and calls for prayer to thwart such threats.
- Pam Bondi as Attorney General: Reed prophesies, as early as Nov. 23, 2019, that Pam Bondi would be chosen as Attorney General and would serve as a powerful voice for justice and fairness in America, exposing corruption and evil.
- Prayer Against Violence and War: Reed urges Christians to pray diligently against violence, war and terrorism following Trump's inauguration as President of a "New Republic." He previously prophesied—just two days before the election—that Trump would win and that Republicans would retake Congress.

- Weapons of Mass Destruction Vision: In a recent dream, Reed sees three weapons of mass destruction hidden in suitcases, set to detonate in New York City, with potential additional threats in Houston and Phoenix. He calls for focused prayer to prevent such catastrophic events.

In addition to these warnings, Reed declares that the Third Great Awakening is upon us, with revival coming in the last quarter of 2025. He believes that 2026 will be a year of greater awareness of who God is, urging Christians to prepare their hearts for a mighty move of the Holy Spirit.

Reed passionately encourages believers to step into their role of intercession, drawing parallels between what is taking place in America and the story of Jonah and the people of Nineveh, who repented and altered their impending judgment. He emphasizes that when Christians take action, pray fervently and preach true repentance, the trajectory of a nation can be altered.

“This is the time and the moment to act,” Reed urges, believing that the church must remain laser-focused on its mission to bring about positive change in America through faith, unity and unwavering prayer.

As the nation stands at a pivotal juncture, Reed’s prophetic warnings are a call for Christians to rise up, seek God’s face and intercede for the protection and future of the United States.
