

Christian CEOs Take C12 Groups to Portland

You've heard of the G12, but how about the C12?

Named for the model Jesus Christ set in Scripture (purposeful interaction among a group of 12 disciples), the C12 Group is a Christian businessmen's accountability group. You might call it a mastermind group for Christian CEOs.

There are C12 Groups across the country. The newest one is in Portland-Vancouver.

"I believe that many Christian chief executives in the Pacific northwest are looking for this type of objective peer advisory board, lifelong learning, and personal development as servant leaders," says Don Barefoot, president and CEO of The C12 Group. "This Portland-Vancouver expansion continues to build C12's long-term presence in southern Oregon and reflects a continued strengthening of C12's network in the western U.S."