Mike Lindell Launches 3-Day Celebration of New Social Media Platform

Mike Lindell is an inspiration, not just because he always has hope but because he is always careful to give God the glory and honor for everything.

Lindell is hosting a countdown to the "Frankathon"—a three-day announcement of his new social media platform, "Frank," following its April 19 launch. Through this launch, Lindell stands up against Facebook, Twitter and YouTube—and cancel culture itself—for harassing and dropping men and women of faith.

Lindell says, "We are going all out: Frank will be the platform for all of us to go to, to use and also to help support all of us."

Bible Translator Shows Believers How to Be Strong and Courageous

It is easy to look around the world today and see the darkness and talk about all that the devil is doing. We can see the enemies' lies and cunning attacks on this nation and the nations of the world.

Like Psalm 2 prophetically declares, the nations are raging against God and His anointed, and this is plainly seen. One of the largest and most destructive weapons the enemy has in his arsenal is fear. Everywhere you look, fear is being propagated, and people are afraid to leave their homes, raise their voices and do what is right.

Why is fear one of the most deadly and destructive weapons? Because if God's people are shrinking back in fear—instead of shining as lights in this world—then he can cage up the kingdom of heaven within us. If we fear embarrassment and ridicule, then we won't spread the gospel, and the kingdom won't be released. {eo}
