

CN Morning Rundown: Why This Minnesota Black Lives Matter Founder Quit

Here's a quick summary of the top stories on :

Minnesota Black Lives Matter Founder Quits After Learning the 'Ugly Truth'

The founder of the St. Paul, Minnesota, chapter of Black Lives Matter spoke out on the "ugly truth" of a year in leadership of the group in a recent video posted on social media.

In 2015, Rashad Turner led the organization with the hopes of supporting Black families. He quickly learned in his year of leadership, the organization as a whole "had little concern for rebuilding Black families," he says.

"I believed the organization stood for exactly what the name implies: Black lives do matter," Turner admits.

Atheists in Kenya Society Secretary Finds Faith in Jesus, Renounces Organization

In a press statement released on May 29 through its Twitter account, the Atheists in Kenya Society announced the resignation of Secretary Seth Mahiga.

The reason? He found Jesus.

The statement regarding Mahiga says, "This evening, regretfully, the Secretary of Atheists in Kenya Society Mr. Seth Mahiga, informed me that he has made the decisions to resign from this position as Secretary of the Society."

How You Can Help Obliterate the Equality Act

The misnamed "Equality Act" is the most dangerous ambush of religious freedom.

The “Q” in LGBTQ includes about 550 sexually deviant paraphilias—including pedophilia that will become a protected class under this bill!

Cosmopolitan states: “Queerness is an umbrella term that is both an orientation and a community. ... The vagueness of the term is intentional—queer is an identity created for anyone outside of the heterosexual norm and meant to be inclusive.”
{eoa}

Read articles like this one and other Spirit-led content in our new platform, CHARISMA PLUS.