Miracle of Miracles: Satanic Church Co-Founder Finds Jesus in Incredible Life Transformation

Riaan Swiegelaar, co-founder of the South African Satanic Church, believed his recent transition to Christianity wouldn't garner much attention. In fact, he figured that he would "quietly slip out the back door" and that people wouldn't be interested in what he was doing.

Little did Swiegelaar know that his Facebook video would go viral and news outlets would tell the story of his miraculous transformation from the darkness to the light, from worshipping Satan to worshipping Jesus.

Swiegelaar says that until a couple of months ago, he had never in his life been shown unconditional love. It was then that he did an interview on the CapeTalk radio station—to promote the South African Satanic Church—and let the interviewer know in no uncertain terms that he did not believe in the existence of Jesus Christ.

'Jesus Chicken' Still Tops America's Favorite Fast-Food Restaurant Chains

Chick-fil-A is America's favorite fast-food restaurant chain for the eighth year in a row, according to the latest results this week by the American Customer Satisfaction Index.

The ACSI data, which measures things like order accuracy, food quality, facility cleanliness, mobile ordering and staff helpfulness, awarded the Atlanta-based restaurant chain an 83% customer satisfaction rating.

Even though Chick-fil-A's rating stayed the same, other top-rated chains saw decreases, including Dunkin', Starbucks, Five Guys, Taco Bell, Popeyes and McDonald's, which all fell at least 3%, according to ACSI.

Mr. T Lauds the Virtues of America While Others Simply Bash It

Iconic actor and retired wrestler Mr. T delivered a heartfelt message Monday in celebration of July 4, expressing gratitude for America and reminding fellow citizens to unite in prayer.

"Happy Birthday America and Happy Independence Day! The Land of the Free and home of the Brave. The Red, the White, and the Blue. In God we Trust!" he wrote on Twitter.

Mr. T, whose birth name is Lawrence Tureaud, added, "We the people; together we stand, divided we fall! Black and white together, we shall overcome some day! The Nation that prays together, stays together!" {eoa}
