Here's a quick summary of the top stories on :

Historic Flight From Israel to Morocco Reinforces President Trump's Peace Deal

Tuesday, President Donald Trump's son-in-law and White House senior adviser, Jared Kushner, flew on the first direct commercial flight from Israel to Morocco, making history since the peace deal the president signed earlier this month.

Meir Ben-Shabbat, Israel's national security adviser, who was also on the flight, said that "history is being written before our eyes."

Kushner is heading the American delegation in Rabat, where a series of agreements will be signed between Morocco and Israel, according to officials.

The 24-hour trip will allow the two countries to sign four agreements, one allowing direct flights between the two countries. The other agreements will focus on tourism, agriculture and general financial issues.

Morocco became the fourth Arab state to normalize ties with Israel this year after the Trump administration brokered agreements with United Arab Emirates, Bahrain and Sudan.

The Palestinians severed ties with the U.S. after Trump recognized the contested city of Jerusalem as Israel's capital in late 2017. The Palestinians rejected Trump's Mideast plan early this year, paving the way for the U.S. to turn its focus to Israel's separate agreements with Arab countries, ABC News reports.

Colorado Drops Suit Against Andrew Wommack Ministries

Colorado and Teller County public health departments dismissed the lawsuit against Andrew Wommack Ministries Inc. since changing their public health orders regarding Governor Polis' unconstitutional limits on religious gatherings made all of the claims against the ministry moot.

Liberty Counsel represents AWWMI in the state court lawsuit that was filed by state and county public health officials to enforce a public health order that changed three times in six weeks.

Colorado Gov. Jared Polis finally dropped Colorado's COVID-19 unconstitutional limits on religious gatherings and declared that houses of worship are essential and removed the attendance caps on worship. This happened because of the recent Supreme Court rulings on behalf of New York City synagogues and Roman Catholic churches in Roman Catholic Diocese of Brooklyn v. Cuomo and Agudath Israel v. Cuomo and Liberty Counsel's case of Harvest Rock Church and Harvest International Ministry in California.

AWMI is a Colorado nonprofit charitable corporation and religious ministry that provides Christian and biblically based conferences, seminars, events and other religious gatherings. AWWMI also has an affiliated ministry, Charis Bible College, which is a Christian college providing in-person and online biblical education courses. Charis Bible College currently has approximately 652 enrolled students and typically has up to 200 more in regular enrollment. AWWMI's facilities at Charis Bible College can seat a total of 5,000 people since the main auditorium/sanctuary seats 3,100 individuals, and the remaining classrooms and event spaces can host 1,900 individuals. MyPillow's Mike Lindell Calls Election Fraud 'Biggest Crime Ever Committed'

Many of us recognize Mike Lindell as the founder and CEO of MyPillow, but during the 2020 presidential election, we have also come to know him as a man who is passionate for our country and for the truth. He is working with top government leaders right now to make sure truth prevails and the overwhelming evidence of election fraud rises to the top.

“The truth shall set you free,” Lindell says about the concerns over the election. “All the Dominion machines, that’s where the biggest fraud was. That’s where you had like 1.2 [votes] to Biden for every vote, and like .8 to the president. And this was the biggest crime in history for election fraud. They’re suppressing it.”

Lindell says Trump’s team, including former national security adviser Mike Flynn and attorney Sidney Powell, is working to get senators and congressmen together so they can show them the evidence they’ve uncovered of the massive election fraud. “There’s a lot of stuff that’s going to come out the next couple days.”

Jan. 6, 2021, is what Lindell calls a “very important date.” That’s when Congress will meet in joint session to formally count the votes of the Electoral College, a meeting at which Vice President Mike Pence will preside. That’s when, Lindell says, “the vice president needs to have strength. We need people in there with strength to save our country, just to say, ‘Hey, let’s look at this evidence.’ That’s kind of what it comes down to. All they need to do is look at it, send it back to the states and say, ‘Look at your evidence.’”

Lindell adds that the horrendous fraud and the forces behind it have endangered our way of life. “Our democracy, our republic is in turmoil, because they’re trying to take everything ... this is a communist attack on our country; it really is,” he says.
