

CN Morning Rundown: ‘Rainbow Revival’ Breaks Out Among Ex-LGBTQ Members as Sign of God’s Covenant

Here’s a quick summary of the top stories on :

‘Rainbow Revival’ Breaks Out Among Ex-LGBTQ Members as Sign of God’s Covenant

Individuals who formerly identified as LGBTQ and left the lifestyle to follow Jesus are declaring a “rainbow revival” over their community.

Approximately 200 gathered at the Sylvan Theater near the Washington Monument for the Freedom March on June 5 to celebrate those who surrendered their formerly LGBTQ lifestyle to follow Jesus. After three hours of sharing testimonies that could only come from the miracle-working power of Jesus Christ, those gathered marched from the Sylvan Theater, around the pool in front of the Lincoln Memorial and back.

While sharing her testimony, one woman spoke of how in her early teenage years, because of a “pile of brokenness” in her heart, she started to “pursue” alcohol, Ecstasy and getting in trouble with the law.

Bishops and Biden: Why the Hesitancy and Hypocrisy When It Comes to Abortion?

“The Lord hates ... hands that shed innocent blood” (Prov. 6:16-17).

Over the next few days one of the most significant gatherings of U.S. Catholic bishops will take place. At the top of the agenda will be the issue of the sanctity of life. Catholic theology affirms that “life begins at conception.”

The summit will review a document intended to clarify the church’s stance on an issue vexing Catholic leaders for decades: Can “Catholic” political leaders and public figures receive Communion if they support the exterminating of developing unborn babies?

Largest Sunday School in the World Takes to New York Streets

Times Square, synonymous with New York City, got a special visit from Metro World Child Sunday School Program on June 9, 2021. As part of celebrations for the reopening of New York City, the New York Police Department invited Metro World Child (Metro) to bring good fun and joy to the streets.

Metro’s staff members dressed in bright neon T-shirts, distributed candies and fliers and had several highly engaging sessions from their iconic yellow Metro sidewalk truck at the center of Times Square. There were interactive games, Bible stories, prayer and raffles for a TV, a laptop and a hoverboard as part of the celebration. Several hundred children and adults from all over the world participated in their programs.

Some former Metro kids joined the celebration. Veronica Jimenez, now a women’s conference speaker, who attended Metro’s program 40 years ago when she was 12 years old, said, “Attending Metro’s program was the only happy memory I had growing up in an abusive environment in Brooklyn. I can’t imagine how my life would have turned out without it. I am so thrilled to see Metro is still serving the city today after 40 years.” Quite a few locals came to the staff members to share their Metro stories from when they were children, including a security guard in Times Square. {eo}

Read articles like this one and other Spirit-led content in our new platform, CHARISMA PLUS.