

CN Morning Rundown: Sadie Robertson, Christian Huff Welcome ‘Best Miracle’ in Newborn Daughter, Honey

Here's a quick summary of the top stories on :

Sadie Robertson, Christian Huff Welcome ‘Best Miracle’ in Newborn Daughter, Honey

Sadie Robertson Huff and her husband, Christian, announced the arrival of their newborn daughter, Honey, on social media Wednesday.

“We saw a million little miracles yesterday—the best one being this girl right here ... Honey,” Robertson Huff wrote. “The pure goodness of God.”

The couple also shared photos of their new bundle of joy Thursday morning, with the caption:

“good morning world!!! I thought you might could use 9 pounds and 5 ounces of straight up goodness.”

Evaluating 3 Post-Pandemic Predictions One Year Later

“So, Noah knew that the waters had receded from the earth” (Gen. 7:11).

As masks are coming off and COVID restrictions change, let's examine the contents of an article I wrote from a year ago. In the aftermath of the catastrophic events, was there prophetic accuracy in this article recently shared afresh with 300,000 pastors and church members last week? You be the judge.

After the flood, everything changed. After World War II, everything changed. After 9/11, everything changed. It is not an overstatement to say that after the COVID crisis, everything will change.

Colonial Pipeline Restarts; Lingering Questions Remain About Biden Energy, Cybersecurity Policies

Amid panicking motorists, long lines at gas stations, empty fuel pumps and skyrocketing gasoline prices, Colonial Pipeline announced the resumption of operations Wednesday evening.

But the lockdown that resulted from a cyberattack on the pipeline, which delivers nearly half the fuel consumed on the East Coast, has left some with deep misgivings about both the Biden administration's energy policies and the need for heightened U.S. cybersecurity.

Rep. August Pfluger, R-Texas, a former national security adviser to former President Donald Trump, told Fox News, "We're going to do everything we can to continue to fight for things like energy independence. ... It is job No. 1 for me that we fight against anything that we see from a Biden administration or executive order." {eoa}

Read articles like this one and other Spirit-led content in our new platform, CHARISMA PLUS.