

CN Morning Rundown: The Gospel Marches Forth as Canadian Pastor Artur Pawłowski Held in Solitary Confinement

Here's a quick summary of the top stories on :

The Gospel Marches Forth as Canadian Pastor Artur Pawłowski Held in Solitary Confinement

Not many outside Canada may be aware, but Pastor Artur Pawłowski, who has been waging spiritual war against the demonic elements in the Canadian government and has been imprisoned for it, is once again behind bars and has been in solitary confinement for nearly six weeks, his son, Nathaniel, told Flashpoint last week.

Nathaniel Pawłowski says his father's stay in solitary is "unprecedented" and this "has never before happened to a pastor in what is supposed to be a free and democratic society." But, he says, his father is in great spirits, is doing the work of the Lord in prison and is continuing to fight the good fight to which he has been assigned.

The younger Pawłowski said his father was arrested and jailed in early February for preaching to truckers in a 20-minute speech at the Alberta-Montana border of the United States. The truckers had formed a blockade similar to that of the Freedom Convoy in Quebec in February. Artur Pawłowski was charged with mischief—which carried a $5,000 fine—as well as aiding and abetting the blockade of the critical infrastructure of Canada and breaching one of his bail conditions from a previous arrest for allegedly not keeping the peace.

Do Zelenskyy's Past Actions Mean We Shouldn't Support Ukraine?

I do not believe that Ukrainian President Zelenskyy is a perfect saint and that Russian President Putin is Satan incarnate. Nor do I believe that all Ukrainians are innocent and that all Russians are guilty. But when it comes to Russia's war on Ukraine, I see no possible justification for Putin's murderous actions, and in that sense, he is guilty and the people of Ukraine are innocent. Therefore, I stand with the people of Ukraine and against the actions of Putin. It is that plain and simple to me.

A friend sent me a video last week where the political commentator, Lara Logan, criticized Zelenskyy, reminding us of his past actions, which included appearing in a raunchy video dancing in high heels and stilettos.

What does this have to do with the war in Ukraine? The message was clear: "Let's not make this man into a saint!"

Larry Tomczak's Week in Review: A Supernatural Stirring in the Land

The Bible tells us that "the devil has come down to you in great wrath, because he knows that his time is short" (). His primary target is the unborn, children and youth because they are the most vulnerable, impressionable and easily seduced.

Never in our history has a generation faced such an onslaught of evil. Youth-targeted movies are profanity-fueled and coarsening our culture at warp speed. Pornography, perversion and the LGBTQ agenda have thrown a blanket over common decency.

Yet there is a supernatural stirring taking place in the land. People are arising with passion to protect our young people. Multitudes are speaking up for righteousness and standing courageously to overcome Satan's schemes. {eoa}

Read articles like this one and other Spirit-led content in our new platform, CHARISMA PLUS.