

Congresswoman Giffords Recites Pledge at Arizona Shooting Memorial

✖ Arizona Congresswoman Gabrielle Giffords (C), who suffered a head wound in the Tuscon, Ariz., shooting, smiles after reciting the Pledge of Allegiance at a memorial service marking the anniversary of the shooting, at the University of Arizona campus Jan. 8. Bells tolled, girls in white dresses danced and clergymen offered up prayers in Tucson on Sunday, one year after a shooting spree that left six people dead and 13 others wounded, among them Giffords.
