

DOJ Task Force Calls for Removal of U.N. Envoy, Citing Flagrant Anti-Israel Conduct, Hamas Ties

The U.S. Justice Department Task Force to Combat Antisemitism has sent a blistering letter calling for the ouster of U.N. Special Rapporteur for the Palestinians Francesca Albanese following the exposure of her alleged ties to pro-Hamas organizations and a campaign against groups supporting Israel that it called a “flagrant abuse” of her office.

Leo Terrell, head of the task force, addressed the letter to Albanese, citing her “alarming campaign of letters targeting institutions that support or invest in the State of Israel.”

He added, “Your suggestion that these organizations may be criminally liable for aiding and abetting (alleged Israeli) war crimes is not only legally groundless. Your actions are defamatory, dangerous, and a flagrant abuse of your office.”
