

Driver Survives Fiery Car Crash With His Bible

A man walked away with only his Bible after his car exploded into flames, according to several reports.

CNN reports the man's Jeep burst into flames after it ran off the road in Memphis.

A witness posted a video on Facebook, saying she saw God after the man's car ran off the road and burst into flames.

"THE ENTIRE EXPRESSWAY STOPPED and people ran from their cars trying to break the windows and open the doors of this mans car to free him, as they were the others went up in prayer for God to deliver this man from the paws of the devil," witness Anita Irby posted.

"Now it appeared our prayers was in vain because he couldn't move and the flames had reach the inside of the God!!!!!! ...the flames were on the inside but the way my God is set up The Way It Look Like and what it is ,None of the flames touched him and even after the car exploded once All these God blessed people ran back up ...Now the passenger even begged them to just let him die . End of Story he's Alive and well. Jesus thats my Goddd," Irby wrote.

While flames licked the car to ashes, the driver's Bible remained unscathed.

"A car that exploded on a Memphis highway was burned to ashes, but one thing was spared from the destruction: a Bible. Witnesses who helped bring the driver to safety called it a sign of divine intervention," WHNT reports.