

Ex-Motorcycle Gang Member Turns to Jesus for Deliverance From Alcohol

Shortly after buying a Harley-Davidson motorcycle, Mike Miller fell in with an alcohol- and drug-addicted motorcycle gang. Though he sobered up when his son was born, his own strength wasn't enough to keep his addiction away.

He eventually got remarried in an attempt to start over, but he was still trapped in addiction. His wife kicked him out but then invited him to church. Watch to find out what happened when he found freedom and peace in Christ.