

Faith Leaders Declare that Prayer Is 'Welcome Back' in the White House

Yesterday the White House Faith Office held a luncheon for business leaders where the tenants of Christianity were lifted up to support the success of the United States.

Breaking News. Spirit-Filled Stories. Subscribe to Charisma on YouTube now!

Faith Office leader Paula White-Cain made remarks to those present that "Prayer, worship and doing good works is welcome back into the White House." She further noted that "Faith is not sidelined, but has a seat at the table."

On the White House X page, the administration posted a video from the event and noted President Trump's remarks where he stated, "Today, we celebrate the core values that built this country: freedom, hard work, risk-taking and above all, trust in almighty God."

Get your FREE CHARISMA NEWSLETTERS today! Stay up to date with current issues, Holy Spirit news, Christian teachings, Charisma videos & more!

//

At the White House Faith Office Luncheon with business leaders, President Trump delivered powerful remarks on the foundation of the American spirit: "Today, we celebrate the core values that built this country: freedom, hard work, risk-taking, & above all, trust in almighty God."

– The White House (@WhiteHouse) July 14, 2025

In a time when faith is often pushed to the margins of public life, this gathering at the White House serves as a powerful reminder that God is still moving in the highest places of influence. As Christian business leaders joined together in prayer and worship, they bore witness to the truth that our nation's success is not just rooted in economics or policy, but in righteousness, humility and a reverence for the Lord.

Join Charisma Magazine Online to follow everything the Holy Spirit is doing around the world!

For believers, this moment is an encouragement to continue praying for our leaders and to boldly live out our faith in every sphere of influence—from the marketplace to the government. When the name of Jesus is lifted up in the corridors of power, it is a call for the church to rise in unity and truth. May this be a beginning, not a moment, and may we as the body of Christ respond with prayer, integrity and courage.

Abby Trivett is content development editor for Charisma Media.