

Franklin Graham: Muslims Have Infiltrated Washington, D.C.

When Bill O'Reilly brought Billy Graham's son onto his show, Franklin Graham was unafraid to speak candidly about why the West cannot unite to fight the Islamic State.

"One of the problems we have in the West is our governments, especially in Washington, have been infiltrated by Muslims who are advising the White House," Graham tells O'Reilly.

"I'm not saying they're sitting next to the president whispering in his ear, but they are in the halls, and they are speaking to the staffers."

While Graham could not immediately provide names, he said he's been told by multiple sources Muslims walk the halls of power.
