

From Womb to Tomb, We Prophesy a Culture of Life

Being pro-life isn't just standing against abortion. Rather, it's cultivating a culture of life at all ages, or from "womb to tomb," as Samuel Rodriguez says. Rodriguez is the president of the National Hispanic Christian Leadership Conference (NHCLC).

And though the Republican party has capitalized on the pro-life movement, Rodriguez says this isn't a political issue. Instead, it's a biblical principle that we're required to honor.

In this special episode of the Charisma News podcast, brought to you by Quartermaster Stewardship, Rodriguez explains why we absolutely cannot vote for a candidate who does not recognize the value of life and how to understand the way Planned Parenthood is targeting minority communities.
