

Fulfillment of the Dead Sea Prophecy Has Begun

Another discovery coming out of Israel is fulfilling Bible prophecy before our very eyes! Nearly 10 times saltier than the ocean, nothing can survive in the Dead Sea's hyper-saline environment—or so scientists have previously thought. But now, according to new findings, scientific research has proven the existence of life at the bottom of the dead sea, and due to a unique set of circumstances, signs of life have begun appearing on its very shores, precisely as it was foretold in the book of Zechariah:

“On that day living water will flow out from Jerusalem, half to the Dead Sea and the other half to the Mediterranean Sea. This will happen for the summer as well as the winter” (Zech. 14:8).

Excerpt From Breaking News Israel:

A young woman on a nature hike was shocked recently when she discovered freshwater ponds with fish on the shores of the Dead Sea. Samantha Siegel, a Jewish woman living in Jerusalem, often takes trips to the desert and the ancient body of water. On a recent visit, she encountered an incongruous sight with powerful implications: a prophecy appearing before her eyes that seemed to contradict the laws of nature. {eo}
