

'Golden Age of America' Coming as Prophecy Unfolds

President-elect Donald Trump's declaration of a coming "golden age of America" in his victory speech just may be part of the fulfillment of a prophetic word by Kim Clement.

"This was, I believe, the greatest political movement of all time," Trump said in his speech. "There's never been anything like this in this country, and maybe beyond. And now it's going to reach a new level of importance because we're going to help our country heal."

Trump further said in his speech that he would focus on the border, and that he would be a champion for all Americans, ushering in an age of prosperity.

"Every citizen, I will fight for you, for your family and your future. Every single day, I will be fighting for you. And with every breath in my body, I will not rest until we have delivered the strong, safe and prosperous America that our children deserve and that you deserve," Trump told the crowd. "This will truly be the golden age of America. That's what we have to have. This is a magnificent victory for the American people that will allow us to make America great again."

Trump's promise of unity for all Americans already seems to be falling into place, as we've seen influential people from Elon Musk, Joe Rogan, Tulsi Gabbard, RFK Jr. and an array of faith leaders like Franklin Graham, Sean Feucht and Paula White-Cain stand behind the president. While these people may all come from different backgrounds, all desire to see a stronger, safer America.

So, is it possible that this unity and a coming “golden age” for our nation is connected to a decade-old prophecy?

On Feb. 22, 2014, Kim Clement described a vision from the Lord he had been given about people coming together in unity.

“Suddenly behind me, starting behind my back, going in a form of an arrow, for hundreds of thousands of people. And I turned around and I was stunned at what I saw,” Clement explained. “This was not just a mere dream but this was a vision.”

Clement said he raised his hands, and the people behind him also raised their hands. When he then shouted, all the people shouted.

“They were one. One party. One party of people. It continued until I realized that the unity of these, amongst them stood one that God had set aside to be the leader of this nation. And then I heard, ‘gold,’” Clement prophesied.

As we’ve seen people come together in unity around Trump to fight for moral, biblical values and for a restoration of our economy, this prophecy just may be unfolding before our very eyes.
