

Home Depot and 76 Other Companies That Support Planned Parenthood

On July 14, 2015, this video was released uncovering some of the practices of Planned Parenthood involving the selling of aborted baby parts—this needs to stop. EVALUEator has now released our research on 77 companies that fund Planned Parenthood through direct corporate donations and sponsored events.

Planned Parenthood continues to generate their revenue from government funding and corporate sponsorship—many of the shares of these companies are packaged in retirement plans (401k plans and IRAs) and listed on the S&P 500 and Fortune 500. We hope this list will encourage the public to voice their concerns to these companies and to stop investing in these companies as consumers and investors.

Meet the Companies

Other companies on the list include Disney, Nike, Starbucks, Johnson and Johnson, Macys, Whole Foods and Gap.
