

How Americans Should Respond to Radical Islamic Jihad

Pakistan, Brussels, San Bernardino, Paris: Radical Islam ripples through the world, targeting Christians.

Fear plagues many, but it is not the answer, says Muslim-turned-Christian Nabeel Qureshi, who converted after the September 11, 2001, terrorist attacks.

“All these attacks are being traced back to the same movement,” Qureshi says.

From where does jihad stem and how should we respond? Watch the video to see his answers.
