

How Dreams Led These Men to Each Other, Break Generational Curses, Create a World-Changing Movement

They each had a dream that led them to a prayer meeting that changed their lives.

Will Ford and Matt Lockett believe the Lord intertwined their lives so they could pray and prophesy a culture of life and see the spiritual atmosphere change as generational curses are broken and generational blessings are embraced.

Their amazing story is now chronicled in their book, The Dream King.

In this special episode of the Charisma News podcast, brought to you by Quartermaster Stewardship, Ford and Lockett discuss the gross racism that fuels abortion and how we can see the end of the culture of death when we take action.