

‘I Have No Fear’: 3 Doors Down Frontman Stuns World With Bold Stage 4 Cancer Revelation

Brad Arnold, the lead singer of the rock band 3 Doors Down, is asking for prayer after revealing he’s battling stage-four cancer.

Arnold took to his Instagram account this week to reveal he’s fighting clear cell renal cell carcinoma, which he discovered after falling ill and recently seeking treatment at a hospital.

Breaking News. Spirit-Filled Stories. Subscribe to Charisma on YouTube now!

“Got some not-so-good news for you today,” he said in the video, noting the disease has spread. “[It] had metastasized into my lungs, and that’s stage four, and that’s not real good.”