

Israeli Scientists Say They Developed Cure for Cancer

A team of Israeli scientists is claiming that it has developed a medication that has the power to cure all types of cancer.

“Our cancer cure will be effective from Day One, will last a duration of a few weeks and will have no or minimal side effects, at a much lower cost than most other treatments on the market,” Dan Aridor, chairman of the board of Accelerated Evolution Biotechnologies Ltd. (AEBi), told The Jerusalem Post. “Our solution will be both generic and personal.”

In many ways, this sounds too good to be true, not least because cancer is the second leading cause of death worldwide. According to the World Health Organization, almost 10 million people died from the disease in 2018 alone. Still, despite these frightening statistics, the team of experts believes its drug, MuTaTo, or multi-target toxin, has the power to eradicate cancer for good.

{eoa}

Click here to read the rest of this story from our content partners at Faithwire.

The news of the day doesn't have to leave you feeling hopeless and angry. Sign up for the Faithwire Newsletter for encouraging stories delivered right to your inbox.