

J.D. Vance on March for Life: 'More Babies in America'

The 2025 March for Life had full support from the new presidential administration.

The annual event when pro-life groups sweep Washington, D.C. in peaceful marches was filled today with politicians and influencers who have boldly pronounced their views that all human lives, including the unborn, have value and significance.

House Speaker Mike Johnson and Florida governor Ron Desantis, along with activist Lila Rose and professional surfer Bethany Hamilton, all came out in support of the unborn, with Rose thanking the president for pardoning 23 pro-life protestors.

"I am so inspired by the incredible love and heroism of Joan Bell," Rose says. "And all the other amazing pro-life activists who were granted their freedom yesterday thanks to President Trump and J.D. Vance."

This endorsement comes after Rose previously criticized Trump's pro-life policies before she ultimately decided to publicly announce she would be voting for him.

"Hello to everyone at the March for Life," Trump says. "It's a pleasure to speak to you from the beautiful Oval you for turning out once again to show your extraordinary love and compassion for the unborn. Each year, Americans of every age, color and background travel to our nation's capitol by the tens of thousands to stand up for precious little babies who cannot stand up for themselves."

Trump further says he was proud to be a participant in the overturning of Roe v. Wade with his Supreme Court justice picks.

"In my second term, we will again stand proudly for families and for life. We will protect the historic gains we have made and stop the radical, Democrat push for a federal right to a limited abortion on demand up to the moment of birth, and even after birth," Trump says.

Vance, who was at the march in person, took to the stage to share his pro-life views.

"Let me say it very simply: I want more babies in the United States of America," Vance declares. "I want more happy children in our country. And I want beautiful young men and women who are eager to welcome them into the world and [are] eager to raise them."

Defending the unborn is not merely a political stance but a moral and spiritual calling to uphold the dignity of life and extend God's love, grace and care to both mother and child. For us as Christians, let's be the hands and feet of Jesus to those who are struggling with their family lives, offering prayers, compassion and discipleship to those in need.
