

Jameis Winston Gets Baptized at Spiritual Retreat

Jameis Winston and his girlfriend got baptized recently at a retreat hosted by Pro Athletes Outreach, according to TMZ.

Winston and girlfriend Breion Allen attended the retreat, which is meant for “single and married pros and their spouses or fiancées (to) gather each year for a few days of unique community, deep interaction with Jesus, and simply to reconnect, as couples or with their friends around the league.”

Allen posted their baptism together on Instagram: “Last night I accepted Christ into my life for the first time. So thankful for this #PAO experience for helping me grow closer in my faith and to be around people trying to do the same.”

Winston is the starting quarterback for the Tampa Bay Buccaneers. In the past, the former Florida State quarterback was accused of sexual assault and shoplifting crab legs.

The football star has Philippians 4:13 as part of his Twitter biography.