

Jill Duggar Dillard and Husband Announce Pregnancy Loss of Their Daughter: 'Isla Was Much Loved'

Jill Duggar Dillard and her husband, Derick, are asking for prayers after announcing the sad news that their four-month-old daughter was stillborn.

The couple shared in a joint post on Instagram they are dealing with the pain of this loss.

"It is with heavy hearts that we announce the stillbirth of our beautiful baby girl, Isla Marie Dillard," the couple began. "Jill was four months pregnant (due in August) when we found out that our baby died in utero."

Breaking News. Spirit-Filled Stories. Subscribe to Charisma on YouTube now!

"From the moment we found out we were pregnant, we couldn't wait to meet our baby," they continued. "Isla was much loved from the start, and her three big brothers were so excited to introduce her to their world."

The couple added, "We appreciate your prayers as we continue to grieve and heal from the loss of our little Isla Marie."