

L.A. Marzulli: The Deceptive Spirit Behind Yoga

In a recent video, L.A. Marzulli uncovered the deceptive spirits behind yoga, gurus and the third eye.

"I was like 21 and I was with the guru for three years and I left everything and moved into the Ashra," Marzulli says. "My third eye was open, I tasted so-called divine nectar, I heard the primordial word of God and divine music."

Marzulli points out that his experiences from before Christ come from the same deception of the devil that he has been attempting since the Garden of Eden. He also warns Christians that meditation positions open up the doors to serpent spirits, and that "Christian yoga" is quite oxymoronic.

"There are great men and great women, mostly women, who are into Christian yoga. First of all, in my opinion, that's completely oxymoronic. You cannot have Christian yoga. They are completely and mutually exclusive from one another, in my opinion," Marzulli says.

"It opens up the Kundalini serpent spirit," he continues. "I'm not going to empty my mind because when I empty my mind what can come into it?"

Marzulli says it is the influx of Eastern mysticism that has infiltrated Western society over the past few decades that is responsible for the mixing of demonic teachings with Christianity.

“This is why you’ve got this Eastern mysticism along with Christianity, and it winds up manifesting with Christian yoga. So, I do not believe for one second this is something we should be involved in. Yoga means ‘yoke,’ or ‘union,’ so what are we yoking with?”

In a world that so easily wants to deceive us, we are called to use discernment and wisdom as provided to us in the Word of God.
