

Let's Dream Big Again

When the announcement was made on election night that President Donald Trump had won, it stood as a pivotal moment in the massive spiritual battle that will determine the future of America.

America is living through a divine reprieve; a season of grace God has put forth to correct our nation's course and align it with His purpose. Joel 2:28b (MEV) declares, "I will pour out My Spirit on all flesh; then your sons and your daughters will prophesy, your old men will dream dreams, and your young men will see visions." Today, this Scripture resonates profoundly, with the prophetic meeting the political in this transformative moment for our nation.

I believe God chose Trump as the leader of the free world at this critical time in history because his destiny is uniquely intertwined with that of America—and the destiny of the world. Puritans and Founding Fathers envisioned.

This victory is far more than a political shift—it is a chance for us to seek God’s guidance as a nation and turn away from the evil and corruption that have permeated our society. I believe God has put the ball in our court at this pivotal time in history. This is a moment of significant opportunity to reclaim our identity as a “shining city upon a hill,” as President Ronald Reagan said in his farewell address to the nation in 1989. He said:
