

Mar Mari Emmanuel is Seeking the Miraculous After Stabbing

Bishop Mar Mari Emmanuel is seeking God for the miraculous after his eye was brutally stabbed.

Emmanuel, an Australian bishop, was stabbed repeatedly back in April by a suspected radical Islamist. Footage of the attack was caught on camera, which major social media platforms attempted to silence. Mar Mari ended up losing his eye which he said he “[asked] the Lord Jesus Christ to accept this eye as a token of love, and a token of sacrifice.”

Now, the bishop is donning his new prosthetic eye as he seeks the Lord for a miracle.

In a new video, Emmanuel introduced the world to his appearance with the new prosthetic.

“You’re probably wondering, saying, ‘wow, the bishop looks different this time,’” Mar Mari said. “We thank the Lord always and for every situation and everything. We pray that this prosthetic eye is going to be the real eye in the near future.”

Emmanuel believes that God can do the impossible through prayer and give him a new eye with quite literal fresh vision.

"With your prayers, the Lord will intervene, and He will show His glory and tell the whole world there is only one God and that is Jesus Christ of Nazareth," Emmanuel said.

"But for the time being, a prosthetic eye doesn't look that bad, does it?" he continued. "It's a prosthetic eye, but I need you to pray for me, for the Lord to change it into a real eye, amen. The Lord is capable, He is God and that is Jesus Christ of Nazareth. He is God and He can do anything and everything, and I trust in Him no matter what."

We know that God is the God of supernatural miracles, healing and deliverance. If He gave sight to the blind, He certainly can do it again. For God, there is absolutely nothing impossible.
