Mike Winger Says Benny Hinn Is Not a Christian During Interview With Charisma

Christian YouTuber Mike Winger, who is an ordained pastor but not currently shepherding a church, recently spoke with Charisma Media's John Matarazzo about his four-hour video, titled "The Victims of Benny Hinn: 30 years of Spiritual Deception."

Seventeen days after posting his viral video, Winger shared in a separate video that Hinn was attempting to get his video, which has over 900,000 views, removed from YouTube. In the four-hour video, Winger argued that Hinn has been financially and spiritually abusive throughout his years of ministry.

Winger's interview with Charisma comes after Charisma posted a two-part interview with Hinn. Matarazzo said, "We're trying to platform voices the best way that we can as we see God moving."

Vatican Tightens Rules on Entertaining the Supernatural

The Catholic Church is tightening their rules about how to deal with the supernatural.

In a newly released document, the Vatican is advising bishops no longer act alone when dealing with supernatural phenomena such as blood-soaked crucifixes and apparitions of the Virgin Mary. Instead, bishops should consult with the Vatican.

The Vatican's announcement acknowledged that supernatural events "have led to a great richness of spiritual fruits, growth in faith, devotion, fraternity and service." However, they believe there are times when the supernatural can act as a deterrent away from faithfully following God.
