

Morning Rundown: Progressive Christianity is the Reason a Drag Queen Charted on Christian Music

Here's a quick summary of the top stories on :

Progressive Christianity is the Reason a Drag Queen Charted on Christian Music

For the first time ever a drag queen's song hit number one on the Christian iTunes chart.

Flamy Grant's song, "Good Day," featuring Derek Webb took over the number one spot on iTunes' Christian chart.

The song is about Grant's "comeback" to the Christian community. The song implies that Grant was hurt by the church and its teachings against the LGBTQ lifestyle.

Sean Feucht: Artist's Christian Music Success 'Demonic'

Sean Feucht recently tweeted, "These are truly the last days." Considering what has happened in the Christian music industry, he may not be too far off in his assessment.

Get your FREE CHARISMA NEWSLETTERS today! Stay up-to-date with current issues, Holy Spirit news, Christian teachings, Charisma videos & more!

Matthew Blake, who performs as a drag queen under the name of Flamy Grant (he acknowledged in a 2022 interview that name was inspired by successful Christian artist Amy Grant), has found nationwide success as a music artist.

While that may not be so surprising, what is shocking is that his album, "Bible Belt Baby," hit the top spot on the iTunes Christian and Gospel chart, which includes the album's lead single "Good Day."

Should Joe Biden Pull an O.J. Simpson?

✖ Taylor Swift's latest song is "Karma," the Hindu equivalent of the Biblical concept of 'sowing and reaping.' Sir Walter Scott warned, "Oh, what a tangled web we weave, when first we practice to deceive."

Exercising our First Amendment right, scores of concerned citizens are starting to share their opinion that Joe and Hunter are finally facing the music for alleged longstanding lawbreaking.

Even though the media ignores it, congressional investigation into the Biden scandal is accelerating daily with whistleblower testimonies and newly discovered documents showing that Biden has been seriously compromised by numerous nations and involved in influence peddling with his son, who among other crimes didn't pay $1.5 million in taxes while his father lectured us, "All Americans must pay their fair share!"

Jezebel died 3,000 years ago. But her spirit lives today, as with Flamy Grant. Read more in Michael Brown's book, Jezebel's War with America. {eoa}

Join Charisma Magazine Online to follow everything the Holy Spirit is doing around the world!