

Morning Rundown: Queen Elizabeth's Former Chaplain Warns Christians About King Charles

Read Time: 1 minute, 24 seconds

Here's a quick rundown of the top stories on :

Queen Elizabeth's Former Chaplain Warns Christians About King Charles

The former chaplain to the late Queen Elizabeth II is speaking out about King Charles III's multi-faith and multiculturalism, warning that those ideas could spell the end of the British monarchy.

Gavin Ashenden, who served as Elizabeth's chaplain for nine years, told GB News after the king's first Christmas speech, "I think that if this slow movement into multiculturalism and multi-faith goes on, we'll lose the monarchy because, in the end, I don't think it will be true to itself."

Charles succeeded to the throne following the queen's death on Sept. 8.

'Noah's Ark: The New Evidence' Examines New Scans and Evidence of the Ark's Location

As technology continues to advance, new instruments and scanning materials have become available for archeologists around the world.

Being one of the most sought-after sites of antiquity, Noah's ark is a prize that any adventurer would love to officially uncover.

Nestled in the hills of the Ararat mountains, the Durupinar site boasts a distinguishable boat-shaped formation that defies logic and matches the dimensions of Noah's ark listed in the Bible.

3 Prophetic Impressions for Donald Trump to Regain Traction

One of the most obscure verses in the Bible has prophetic significance for 2023. It focuses on a bird as a carrier of sensitive information previously hidden.

"Do not revile the king even in your thoughts or curse the rich in your bedroom, because a bird of the air may carry your words and a bird on the wing may report what you say," (Eccl. 10:16-20).

The legendary Twitter bird is one of the most recognizable logos worldwide. It symbolizes how quickly information can travel to impact multitudes. {eoa}

Bring "Charisma" magazine home with a subscription today!