

Morning Rundown: The World Is Watching: Speculation of September 24 Catastrophic Event Sends Many Into Panic

Here's a quick summary of the top stories on :

The World Is Watching: Speculation of September 24 Catastrophic Event Sends Many Into Panic

Speculation of a catastrophic or world-changing event to happen on Sept. 24 has gone wild on social media, stemming from a mistake that a German legislator made in a speech earlier this month.

Fueling the spread of this online fascination are QAnon conspiracy theories, TikTok content creators and numerology-based interpretations of a specific episode of "The Simpsons" about a survivalist preparing for the end of the world.

Millions of people have posted or shared on social media this month various theories and imaginative thoughts ranging from Donald Trump coming back into power in the White House to a false flag attack or a major solar flare. Others believe there could be "10 days of darkness" resulting from massive cyber-attacks that would happen on Sept. 24, 2022.

Kirk Cameron Film 'LifeMark' Sparks Hope For Future of Adoption

Kirk Cameron's new movie "Life Mark" is inspired by the incredible true life story of an adopted son who reconnects with his birth mother after his 18th birthday. This movie comes out in a time where Roe v. Wade has been overturned and the fight against abortion continues. Cameron's efforts to depict the story of a real family paints a picture everyone needs to see.

This film highlights the journey of adoption and the beauty of how life can turn out for an adopted child, and a family who wouldn't have been able to have a child otherwise. The movie hit the theatres on Sept. 9 with a message of hope and reconciliation.

Cameron says they transcribed the dialogue for the movie directly after interviewing the family depicted in the movie. "Not only that, there are some secret scenes in the move, where the actors who are playing the roles are actually the real biological mother, the real adoptive mother and father and the real son," Cameron says.

Is America Preparing the Way for a One-World Ruler?

The culmination of history is approaching. The end of the world may be at hand. Yet Jesus tells us we should not be alarmed. Why?

Because we are engraved in the palms of His hands. Because we are carried in His arms. Because we are the apple of His eye.

The time is coming when the world will fall under the spell of the ultimate power-drunk ruler. The Bible calls this ruler the Antichrist. The world will fear him; the West will welcome him. America is currently preparing his way. However, followers of Jesus must remember the Lord's words: "See to it that you are not alarmed." {eoa}