

Morris Cerullo Announces Farewell Crusades

After 72 years in ministry, Morris Cerullo has announced his final crusades.

Just one year ago, the evangelist, who turned 87 recently, was expected to die from paralyzing vasculitis until a supernatural miracle intervened.

Now, he has five major stops scheduled on his farewell crusades:

- London, England (June 22-23)
- Los Angeles (August 24-25)
- Toronto (October 5-6),
- New York (October 12-13)
- Washington, D.C. (November 9-10).

"God said, 'America needs to experience once more my supernatural power ... just like I healed you, I want you to take My healing power to London, Los Angeles, Toronto, New York and Washington, DC.,'" Cerullo says the Lord told him.

"I must be faithful to the Lord. I am calling on believers everywhere to stand with me—to pray with me—mark these dates down for a great harvest of souls and make your plans to join me."

Each crusade will feature two power-packed days of impartation with expected salvations, healing, teaching, miracles, special music and the old-fashioned power of God.

Cerullo will host special Pastor Prayer Breakfasts in each city to personally minister and share his heart for these final crusades to bless the pastors and churches on the scheduled crusade stops.
