

Morris Cerullo's Worldwide Legacy Event Postponed Due to COVID-19 Pandemic

Dr. Morris Cerullo, president of the Legacy International Center at 875 Hotel Circle South in San Diego, California, today announced the Legacy International Center will open to the public Friday, April 3. However, Legacy will postpone its worldwide event, scheduled for March 31-April 5, featuring renowned speakers Joel Osteen, Kenneth Copeland, Tommy Barnett, Sid Roth, Christian Harfouche, Marcus Lamb and Robert Stearns, plus many others.

The ceremony inaugurating the $200 million, 18-acre complex was scheduled to host thousands of attendees from over 40 nations to its auditorium, conference centers, open spacious plaza, hotel, restaurants and exhibits.

Dr. Cerullo announced the decision as an act of support for efforts by governmental leaders, schools, universities and other facilities in response to the current worldwide health situation.

Dr. Cerullo, who has ministered in nearly every nation for 75 years, stated that the dedication service is being rescheduled for a time more convenient for visitors from around the world.

The Legacy Center remains open for visitors and clients of its world-class Legacy Resort Hotel and Theresa's Italian Steakhouse, which has received great reviews.
