

One Photo Reveals the Difference Between Obama, Trump

The patriots at Students4Trump summed up the difference between President Obama and President Trump in a clever Instagram photo.

President Trump was about to board Marine One when he noticed the wind had blown off a Marine's hat. The president retrieved the hat and placed it on the Marine's head. A few seconds later, a gust of wind once again sent the hat flying. Video shows a military official assisting the president in returning the hat to the Marine.

Now let's compare President Trump's thoughtfulness to President Obama's dismissive attitude toward the military.

In 2013 President Obama summoned Marines to protect him from the rain during a Rose Garden gathering. The president directed the Marines to stand in the rain while they held umbrellas.

That's the difference between a commander-in-chief and a community organizer-in-chief.

