

Pastor Asks for 3 Supernatural Prayers After Sons Die in Car Crash

An Atlanta-area pastor asked for supernatural prayer ahead of the funeral of his two sons who were killed in a car wreck earlier this month.

Kevin Royson, pastor of OutReach Church in Newnan, Georgia, lost two of his teenage sons in a devastating car wreck after church Jan. 20. Josh, 16, was pronounced dead at the scene, while Kahlil, 17, died later from injuries sustained in the wreck.

Georgia State Patrol says Kahlil went around a curve at a high rate of speed when the car left the road, rotated counterclockwise and hit a fire hydrant marker, according to WSB-TV Atlanta. The car went airborne and traveled some distance before crashing into the tree.

The pastor previously called for prayers of healing for his son Khalil.

The funeral is scheduled for today.

Please pray for the Royston and OutReach Church families during this time.
