

Pat Robertson Calls for Egyptian-Style Uprising Against Obama

In the latest controversial comments from CBN founder Pat Robertson, the televangelist urged Americans to revolt against Obama in the same way Egyptians protested its ousted former president, Mohammed Morsi.

"You know they revolted in Egypt against the oppressive actions of the Muslim Brotherhood, and this example of state socialism is something that Americans should rise up against," Robertson said on Wednesday's 700 Club, in reference to the HHS Affordable Care Act.

"They snuck that thing by us," he added.

Robertson described Obama's signature legislation as "2,700 pages of gobbledygook."

The 83-year-old is known for criticizing the president. In 2012, he called Obama a "socialist" who wants to "destroy" America.

"I think he thinks ideologically: 'I must cripple the capitalist class; I must cripple the business owners; I must destroy the free-enterprise system in America,'" Robertson said of Obama.
