

Pentagon Shake-Up: God Is Exposing Deep Roots of Deception in America

There's something stirring in the spirit of this nation—something many of us have prayed for over years of decline. It's a season of exposure. What's been done in secret is being dragged into the light, and it's not just in churches or on cultural platforms—it's happening in the very core of our government.

News broke this week that two top Pentagon officials were placed on administrative leave during an investigation into national security leaks. Dan Caldwell, a senior adviser to Defense Secretary Pete Hegseth, and Darin Selnick, deputy chief of staff, were removed on concerns over unauthorized sharing of sensitive military information.

According to Politico, the leaks “may involve military operational plans concerning the Panama Canal, a deployment to the Red Sea, Elon Musk’s controversial Pentagon visit and the halting of intelligence gathering related to Ukraine.”

This kind of house-cleaning would have been unthinkable just a few months ago under the previous administration, which was more focused on enforcing LGBTQ ideology in the ranks than rooting out deception or enforcing national security. Now, under Donald Trump's leadership—alongside Hegseth at the Pentagon—there's a willingness to confront the mess and take action.

The Associated Press noted that Caldwell “was escorted out of the Pentagon on Tuesday,” a sign that this isn't just symbolic action. This is a real effort to restore integrity and order.

But with every act of exposure comes resistance. There are those in the system who are pushing back against any efforts to drain the swamp—because darkness never gives up power without a fight.

This is a spiritual battle as much as it is a political one.
