

Planned Parenthood Busted Helping Human Traffickers

✖ Planned Parenthood was caught red handed helping a man posing as a child sex trafficker in New Jersey.

A recently released video clearly shows an office manager in a private meeting with the sex trafficker. In the video, the man makes the nature of his business clear and details that his so-called clients are either minors or illegally present in the United States.

The shocking footage chronicles an office manager laughing and joking with the pimp, and offering tips on how to make his business appear more “legit.”

Clinic manager Amy Woodruff, LPN, of Planned Parenthood Central New Jersey’s Perth Amboy center, warns the pimp and his prostitute to have their trafficked underage girls lie about their age to avoid mandatory reporting laws, promising, “Even if they lie, just say, ‘Oh he’s the same age as me, 15,’ it’s just that mainly 14 and under we have to, doesn’t matter if their partner’s the same age, younger, whatever, 14 and under we have to report.” She says, “For the most part, we want as little information as possible.”

Woodruff also recommends how the pimp can get his prostitutes cheaper contraception by claiming they are “students”: “If they’re minors, put down that they’re students. Yeah, just kind of play along that they’re students—we want to make it look as legit as possible.”

If one of the young trafficked girls needs an abortion, Woodruff refers the pimp and prostitute to the Metropolitan Medical Association, where “their protocols aren’t as strict as ours and they don’t get audited the same way that we do.” The prostitute in the video asks how long after the abortion until the girls can have sex again, and when Woodruff says "minimum of two weeks," she asks what sex acts the girls could still do to make money. Woodruff advises, "Waist up, or just be that extra action walking by" to advertise sex to potential clients.

"This proves beyond a shadow of a doubt that Planned Parenthood intentionally breaks state and federal laws and covers up the abuse of the young girls it claims to serve," said Lila Rose, president of Live Action, the organization that produced the undercover video. "Time and time again, Planned Parenthood has sent young girls back into the arms of their abusers. They don't deserve a dime of the hundreds of millions they receive in federal funding from taxpayers. Congress must cease funding and the Department of Justice should investigate this corrupt organization immediately."

This story could be damaging for Planned Parenthood, which received more than $363 million in taxpayer dollars in the last year. There is currently an effort underway in the House of Representatives, known as H.R. 3, which will eliminate all federal funding for abortion. This bill already has 173 cosponsors.

"As the largest abortion provider in America, Planned Parenthood has caused incalculable damage," says Mathew Staver, founder and chairman of Liberty Counsel and Dean of Liberty University School of Law. "Not one penny of our tax dollars should fund Planned Parenthood, either directly or indirectly. The new Congress should immediately defund this killing machine."
