

Prominent Christian Leaders Unite for Pentecost 'Night of Promise' Friday

Prominent Christian and Messianic leaders are uniting this Friday, May 29, at 8 p.m. EST for the Night of Promise, a celebration encouraging believers to stand with Israel.

Around 2,000 years ago, the Holy Spirit was poured out on Jesus' disciples, launching one of the most historic revivals the church has ever known. Rabbi Jonathan Bernis, founder of Jewish Voice International, believes we could see a similar revival again. With that hope, he launched the idea of the Night of Promise, which quickly gained traction among Christian television stations across the U.S.

Hosted by Bernis and CBN President Gordon Robertson, the Night of Promise is designed to remind Christians around the world that God is faithful, even in the midst of a pandemic.

In fact, Bernis tells Charisma Media CEO Stephen Strang that in the midst of COVID-19 the church is experiencing a divine wake-up call.

"What does God want to do here in America?" he says. "He didn't cause this plague, I believe, but it's a wake-up call. And if there's this parallel with Passover, maybe God wants to do something this year on Pentecost."

Through the Night of Promise, Christian leaders unite with hopes of seeing a fresh move of God as they bless and encourage believers around the world.

Prominent leaders and worship artists who will participate in the Night of Promise include Charisma Media CEO Stephen Strang, CBN founder Pat Robertson, Rabbi Jonathan Cahn, Cindy

Jacobs, Lance Wallnau, Chuck Pierce, Kathy Lee Gifford, Paula White Cain, Jentezen Franklin, Aaron Shust, Kari Jobe and Cody Carnes, Mike Huckabee, Dr. Michael Brown and more.

How You Can Watch the Night of Promise

Television: Cornerstone, CTN, Daystar, GEB, GOD TV, Hillson, Impact, INI, Miracle, TBN, TCT, TLN, WHT and more.

Live stream: YouTube and Facebook.

On the JVMI App via Roku, AppleTV and fireTV.

The event will air from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. EST on Friday, May 29, and a repeat airing will be broadcast the following day, May 30, at 8 p.m. EST on all CBN platforms.

Visit for more details and to RSVP to the event.