

Saddleback Church to Launch Los Angeles Campus on Easter

Rick Warren's Saddleback Church in California will launch its newest campus in Los Angeles on Easter Sunday, April 20.

The church has eight other locations, with its main campus in Lake Forest, Calif. The Los Angeles church will meet at Hollywood High School, with Warren preaching the message on its opening Sunday.

"Discover a place where you can meet new friends and learn how to live a life that has a lasting impact," the church's website says.

Jeremy Haynes will be the campus pastor at Saddleback Los Angeles. He previously served as a small group area leader at Calvary Community Church in Westlake Village, Calif.
