

Second Red Heifer Born in Israel as Temple Preparations Continue

The National Red Heifer Institute has announced the birth of a second red heifer in Israel within roughly six weeks, describing the development as another significant step toward restoring the biblical laws of purification connected to a future Temple.

According to Israel365 News, the new heifer was born in the Golan Heights just before Tisha B'Av, while two additional red heifers were also inseminated in Ancient Shiloh as part of the Institute's long-term effort to establish a full herd.
