

Second Wave of Explosions Rocks Hezbollah to the Core

Wednesday saw even more chaos consume the terrorist organization known as Hezbollah.

In the wake of Tuesday's unprecedented pager explosions which have led to 12 deaths and nearly 3,000 injured according to Reuters, a new round of explosions went off again across Lebanon.

Middle East news agency Al Jazeera reports that the devices were Icom F82 radios, and it is currently believed they were compromised in the same way as the pagers Hezbollah used.

Previous reports indicated that Mossad, Israel's intelligence agency, infiltrated the supply chain for Hezbollah and planted explosives next to the lithium-ion batteries.

With the terror group abandoning all of their pagers in the wake of the first attack, it is believed that Israel set them up for a larger attack the following day, with the walkie-talkies and radios now being used by most Hezbollah operatives.

The explosions were so great, that smoke can be seen rising across the Lebanese skyline.

As with the first wave of attacks on Tuesday, Israeli media also is reporting another wave of airstrikes against targets in southern Lebanon.

Many users across social media called the attack by Israel “unprecedented” as the utilization of personal communications devices will surely affect future warfare in the Middle East and abroad.

This goes hand in hand with the increased use of “drone warfare” by terror outlets like Hamas and Hezbollah, as well as international governments such as Ukraine in their war against Russia.

With all the chaos in the world today, the best place for people to look for guidance, peace and hope is the Word of God. Jesus exhorts His followers to be ready at all times for His return, because He is coming like a thief in the night. It is imperative for Christians to follow, understand and discern the signs of the times we live in, as wars and rumors of wars continue to grow across the earth so that they may see through the deception of the enemy.
